

SAVE THE DATE!

COLLABORATIVE LAW

VOLUNTEER TRAINING / NETWORKING OPPORTUNITY

APRIL 24, 2014

1:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m.

REFRESHMENTS WILL BE SERVED FROM:

4:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m.

Location: Annapolis, MD

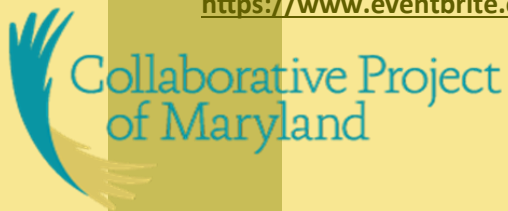

All Volunteers of the Collaborative Project of Maryland, those trained previously through the Department of Family Administration, Administration Office of the Courts, or others wishing to volunteer to take a pro-bono/low-bono Collaborative case are welcome.

We have an exciting presenter: Idith Schaham, an advocate and collaborative practitioner from Ramat Gan, Israel, providing a workshop from her experiences in the Collaborative Public Center in Ramat Gan (a public service providing collaborative process service to families of modest means in Israel). The workshop will include:

- The difference between providing private representation and pro-bono/low-bono representation.
- Coping with a wide range of clients in a pro-bono/low-bono Collaborative Divorce process.
- Building the interdisciplinary team in a pro-bono/low-bono case.

Please register at the link below:

<https://www.eventbrite.com/e/collaborative-law-volunteer-training-networking-opportunity-registration-11114679305>

The Department of Family Administration, Administrative Office of the Courts and the Collaborative Project of Maryland

